Class Day Gayety and Commencement Dignity Is Now All Pervasive and Graduation Exercises Are the Order of the Day Everywhere.

THE graduating exercises of Miss Mary Schomaker's School for Girls, 244 West End Avenue, New York City, held at the Plaza this year, marked a departure from the customary and conventional fare heretofore made of a class on the occasion of a school year's closing. Instead of a formal and official gathering, the exercises were held in the gymnasium of the school, and the program was a most interesting and original one.

A Reason for Failure. MANY boys are dropped from college by the middle of their freshman year. In the pitifully short space of four months they have been found wanting, and the boys are blamed. They are told they have not worked. No doubt they have not—but after all some one else is to blame for not having taught them how. By the time a boy leaves school for college he should have been taught that a firm foundation is essential to success—that he must think quickly—work hard and above all not procrastinate. This is in addition to his studies—and fully as important. That is why your boy should go to a school that specializes in college preparation—one that has the equipment for this specialization—one whose record for sending boys to college equipped to stay there is its best recommendation.
